Reflection on Grandmother. Jimmie sat on the chopping block actively twiddling his fingers. Should he go fishing or play ball? His grandmother called from the open window: "Jimmie! Don't you know Jatin has some mischief still for idle hands to do? Bring in a basket of apples to do!" Replied Jimmie with a twinkle: "That ain't no mischief,"—by J. Martin.

A Papered House. "Suffering cats!" said the dramatic critic to a fellow-worker, during the second act of the much-boasted play "Why, that at any rate doesn't do a thing but play to the gallery." "Shows his gratitude," chuckled the other: "the gods are the only persons present that paid to get in!"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Just a Slight Mistake. The story is an old one of the party of tired travelers who entered a house decorated by a peculiar sign and demanded oysters. "This is not a restaurant," said the courteous gentleman who met them; "I am an artist." "Isn't that an oyster hung outside the door?" asked one. "No, gentlemen, it is an ear."

Not Easily Squeaked. A little boy of four was begging to go to see a little neighbor. His mother had repeatedly refused. Finally she said: "Drury, do not ask me if you can go to see Joe again." Then the child in his slow way asked: "Well, mamma, if I could go, how long could I stay?"—The Delineator.

Somewhat Growsome Occupation. One of the strangest signs in New York city is in an undertaking establishment in Eighth avenue. It is not conspicuously displayed, but it serves to startle when first noticed. It reads: "We make a specialty of exhuming bodies where desired."

Poor Kit Columbus! One of the ironies of fate is that, if a man is fortunate enough to build up an enviable fame, he must die and leave it for an untimely future to play battle and shuttlecock with. Among these victims is Christopher Columbus.—Kansas City Star.

Chronic. "Away down in her heart," said the boarding house philosopher, "every woman is a pessimist. When any calamity happens she always wants to know the worst, and isn't happy until she hears it."

Efficacious for Boli. In the beginning of a neck-bolt, a good thing is a pure grain alcohol fuffice made by sucking a marble size wad of surgeon's cotton in alcohol and keeping it on wet all night with a bandage.

Work Means Growth. Work is the only means of growth. Not to work is to keep always an undeveloped hand, or heart, or brain. The things which work may achieve are not half so important as that which work does in us.—Turner.

The Hunters. A good many people go about looking for a quarrel. But it is our observation that only a very limited number go about looking for a fight.—Topsie Capital.

Conceited Man Never Popular. A man who shows himself too well satisfied with himself is seldom pleased with others; and they, in return, are not disposed to like him.—La Rochefoucauld.

Be Superior to Small Worries. Cultivate the feeling that your spirit can rise above small bothers. If you feel superior and attain the lofty air you will save yourself lots of friction. Groveling is hard on the knees.

Worth Pondering Over. I am sure it is a great mistake always to know enough to go in when it rains. One may keep snug and dry by such knowledge, but one misses a world of loveliness.—Adeline Knapp.

Politeness Always Pays. Good manners pay. If you think the world takes no notice, you at least have the satisfaction of knowing that you are doing right. Be polite.

With Thankful hearts we acknowledge the beneficent Ruler of the Universe, returning for the ever increasing bounties our feeble words and humble adoration.

To those who surround us we also return our thanks and extend the wish that there may be a day of real Thanksgiving, filled with peace, happiness, contentment and prosperity.

Sincerely yours,
THE GOLDEN RULE MER. CO.
